

Michael Bingham, PMP, IAPOC

Small Business Coach & Consultant

Michael is a professional business coach and consultant who helps small business owners break through barriers and build sustainable growth. His coaching philosophy is rooted in the belief that most entrepreneurs already hold the answers—they simply need a thoughtful guide to help unlock that potential.

Michael takes a practical, results-oriented coaching approach. He helps clients gain clarity, set meaningful goals, and take consistent, strategic steps forward—without the noise of overcomplicated plans or one-size-fits-all advice.

Known for his insight, emotional intelligence, and clear communication, Michael builds strong, trust-based relationships with clients. He challenges their thinking, helps them see their business from new perspectives, and turns roadblocks into opportunities for growth.

If you're a business owner looking for a grounded, thoughtful coach who brings both structure and empathy to the table, Michael is ready to help you move forward with clarity and confidence.

Project Management Professional, Project Management Institute
Executive Coach, IAPO International Association of Professional Executive Coaches

For permission to reproduce any part of this biography—or to inquire about Michael's availability for speaking engagements, please direct all communications to: info@mnm-ventures.com